About Me

Coding, tech, and creativity. I'm currently exploring game development and front-end design, blending logic with imagination to create fun, functional experiences. I love learning by building, whether it's a minimalist website, a quirky game, or smart scripts that solve real problems. Always curious. Always building.

Education

High School Student Thanaweya Amma (Egypt)

Actively learning through real-world projects, online resources, and hands-on experience.
